Former Troop-Carrying Glider Becomes Three-Room Suite

OTTAWA, (CP)—Soldiers of both the active and reserve armies are due for a pay raise Oct. 1.

Army officials reported Saturday that day has been set as the probable starting date for a pay system that will bring permanent force soldiers up to the levels enjoyed by the other two services.

Reserve army men will get the benefit of the increase on the basis of the 30 days training they are slated to do annually. For purposes of computing pay two nights of training will be considered the equivalent of one day.

Majority of the 14,058 officers and other ranks now serving in the interim army are expected to enlist in the permanent force by Oct. 1, leaving about 11,000 still required to complete Canada's peacetime military establishment.

Members of the two-year interim army force who are not accepted into the permanent army for medical or other reasons, may remain in the army until their temporary army commitment expires in September, 1947. These men, however, will continue to be paid according to rates paid during the war.

Under the new system of pay, a private who is unqualified in any trade will receive a maximum of $60 per month compared with the present rate of $75.00 a month.

The $60 consists of $30 pay and $30 subsistence and reserve army men will get only the $30. But they too can qualify for trades pay.

The new marriage allowance will be set at a rate of $30 a month. The $30 marriage for officers, however, will be reduced to $10 a month.

Under the new system of pay, a private who is unqualified in any trade will receive a maximum of $60 per month compared with the present rate of $75.00 a month.

Three Quarters Levee Attack On British Foreign Policy

By Charles Nichols
LONDON.—British Labor government's foreign policy came under attack from three widely-separated quarters Friday as being anti-British in the one hand and too closely allied to that of the United States on the other.

British morning newspapers displayed prominently the New York speech of Henry Wallace in which the secretary of commerce said "British imperialist policy" in the New East might drive the United States into war with Russia unless Washington followed an independent policy of its own.

It was coupled with dispatches from Moscow government newspaper, Izvestia's accusation that American imperialism had been engaged in an imperialist struggle against Russia.

Levee well displayed was the demand for a re-evaluation of an often repeated charge—that by Harry Belmont, secretary of British Communist party, that this nation should break away from an association with "American imperialism," with its results of trade depression, mass poverty and new wars.

Wallace's speech brought no editorial comment Friday, presumably because its content is confined to the British observers. After declaring that America must have its own foreign policy the commerce secretary's presidentially-approved statement outlines desirable objectives of such an independent policy which appear to be closely similar to those already advanced by British socialist Foreign Minister Ernest Bevin.

British generally accept, as Wallace said, that the Russian control over all eastern Europe.

British diplomacy seeks, as Wallace says, America must seek trading rights in the nations enclosed within the Russian economic sphere.

British aims away with Wallace's policy because the government believes that while there is any chance of breaking down Russian suspicions of Britain's designs against the Soviet, the utmost justice and the most conciliatory attitude should be employed.

It is for that reason too that Britain has nothing to which to back up a re-approach policy.

It is for that reason too that Britain will not establish strong bases on the Balkans.

20% Polish Youth Have Tuberculosis

By David Nichol
LONDON.—(UPI)—Eight percent of Poland's total population and 20 percent of its youngsters are suffering from tuberculosis, according to Morgan Phillips, British Labor party secretary, who recently visited Warsaw as a member of the British mission.

Other disease rates are correspondingly high, he indicates. Three and a half million children require extra food and almost 3,000,000 need medical care.

The country has lost 17 percent of its prewar population, 50 percent of its industrial capacity and all its modern machine tool production.

Phillips, presumably, had access to sources of information not previously available. It gives weight to his calculations.

The labor party secretary says, "as one finds in so many countries, the Communist party is making a deliberate attempt to undermine and weaken the Social Democratic parties throughout Poland."

There are 50,000 persons still living in "re-education camps," says Phillips declares, but warns that efforts to pull them down may be used to cloak the establishment of a one-party state, since the police, army and censorship are all in the hands of the Communists.

If this occurs, he says, Poland may face a new civil war, with all its tragic consequences.

Recover $110,000 In Bogus Money

WASHINGTON. (AP)—The secret service Friday announced the recovery of $110,000 in bogus $20 notes in the "largest haul of bogus money taken in the past 10 years."

The announcement said that the notes had been arrested in connection with the haul, made in New York city.

Treasury Secretary Snyder and the acting secret service chief, James J. Mahoney, gave this account in a statement.

Joseph Baraka alias "Money" and Joseph C. Giarrano were taken into custody in New York after Sark had delivered a package containing the $110,000 in counterfeit bills to an undercover secret service agent at a midtown hotel.

Some hours later Joseph Paternoster, proprietor of a printing plant in Newark, N.J., was taken into custody as the alleged manufacturer of the counterfeits.

Later the fourth man, George A. Newark, was taken into custody in Newark.

EDMONTON CONSTRUCTION INDUSTRY UNITES TO AID VETERANS' HOUSING

LUMBER DEALERS, SUPPLY HOUSES AND SUB-TRADES TO CO-OPERATE WITH HOME BUILDERS' ASSOCIATION

Determined to end current tie-ups in veterans' housing projects, all branches of Edmonton's construction industry have united to back the local Home Builders' Assn. and the Priorities Advisory Committee in an effort to complete hundreds of unfinished veterans' homes in the city and throughout northern Alberta.

This was announced today by a special committee representing the Home Builders, Lumber Retailers and the various sub-trades and supply houses. As a result of this united action by the construction industry, it is confidently expected that at least 250 homes in Edmonton will be completed before winter, and that still greater numbers will be completed before spring.

"The Edmonton Home Builders and the Priorities Advisory Committee are pleased indeed to receive such generous support from all branches of the industry, and I feel that such a determined effort on the part of private enterprise will assist our governments immensely in solving the problem of allocating building supplies." This was a comment made by George Prudham, chairman of the committee. "In the final analysis, those engaged in any specific industry are best qualified to tackle problems facing that industry."

Mr. Prudham continued: "Since the home builders of Edmonton initiated this program, we have received the all-out support of three Dominion Government Departments, as well as that of the Provincial Government and the City of Edmonton, and I am confident that with the entire industry now pledging support, we can in a short time solve the veterans' home building problem throughout northern Alberta."

HOME SURVEY CONDUCTED

The Priorities Advisory Committee was formed as result of decisions arrived at when the Edmonton Home Builders conferred with their National affiliate in Winnipeg some time ago. At that meeting, officials of the department of Reconstruction and Supply asked the home builders to conduct an immediate survey of unfinished homes in the city.

This survey being completed and a report made to Ottawa, the Edmonton group was then requested to sponsor an advisory committee of responsible citizens and government representatives, whose function would be to conduct an immediate registration of all veterans' homes not less than 50% completed. Assurances were given that when the total of actual shortages had been revealed by the registration, steps would be taken to channel the needed materials through normal retail outlets to the individual projects.

The first registration was completed on Sept. 3, and returns revealed that in Edmonton, some 250 veterans' homes had qualified for immediate assistance, and will receive top priority for materials. Registrations are continued, and persons whose homes are in a lower category of completion will be attended to in due course.

The construction industry wishes to acknowledge the valuable contribution made to the housing situation by the City of Edmonton, through the diversion of cement from paving projects to home building.

Because no other body of this nature is functioning in northern Alberta, many applications for assistance have been received from outside points, and the Committee has now enlarged its field of service to include Red Deer and the territory north of that city.

LUMBER DEALERS ASSIST

The Edmonton Retail Lumbermen's Assn. has pledged full assistance in carrying out this program and in addition, will enlist the support of all members of the Western Canada Retail Lumbermen's Assn., so that reliable sources of information, advice and supply will be available to all veterans outside Edmonton who are not able to contact a branch of D.V.A.

Of major importance to Edmonton veterans is the decision of Edmonton lumber dealers to make available immediately all the building supplies on hand, pending receipt of replenishments through the Priorities Advisory Committee. This will make for a welcome speed-up in the building program, and the dealers feel that in view of the urgency of the housing situation, other customers will bear any possible delays in deliveries with patience and understanding.

It is felt that if veterans' homes can be completed, then the industry will be able to operate on a normal basis, and that the most energetic steps must be taken now to house as many veterans as possible before winter.

SUPPLIERS AND SUB-TRADES ASSIST

Speaking on behalf of the supply houses and sub-trades, H. M. Cullis said, "Our sections of the industry will go all out to assist in this program. Our wholesalers, supply houses and sub-contractors will do everything possible to conform to the wishes of the Priority Committee."

Similar expressions were voiced by Thornton Graham and James Morgan, representing the plumbing and general supply houses. Further endorsement comes from the Mayor of Edmonton and the Dept. of Economic Affairs, Provincial Government. The co-operation of D.V.A., V.L.A. and the Chief Priorities Officer for Canada has already been made known.

The attention of all veterans is drawn to the announcements on this page. Registrations are still proceeding, and building requirements will be totaled monthly for transmission to Ottawa. Forms may be obtained from D.V.A. or the City Building Inspectors' Office, and after filling in must be mailed to the last-named address.

ATTENTION VETERANS!

Are You Building a Home for Your Family? Are You Held Up for Materials? If So, This Is for You

The Priorities Advisory Committee is conducting a registration of all veterans homes held up for materials. We have been assured that all homes at least 50% completed will be supplied with the materials you need, provided we can forward to Ottawa an accurate list of shortages. If your home qualifies, we urge you to follow the instructions below.

HERE IS WHAT TO DO

1. Apply to D.V.A. or the City Building Inspectors, Edmonton, for a registration form.
2. Fill in the form, giving personal details, project identity, name of contractor and supplier, as requested in the form. Please do this carefully, preferably with the help of your contractor.
3. MAIL THE FORM IMMEDIATELY TO PRIORITIES ADVISORY COMMITTEE,
BUILDING INSPECTORS' OFFICE,
CIVIC BLOCK, EDMONTON
4. Await notification of your material allocation.

The Priorities Advisory Committee is sponsored by the Edmonton Home Builders Assn., an organization of reputable master builders, building supply dealers, sub-contractors and professional men concerned with the building trades.

The Priorities Advisory Committee is a voluntary, non-profit organization whose sole aim is to help the veteran to get the materials to complete his home. Membership is given below.

SPUR MODERN HOME DESIGNS:—"Homes—not just houses!" is the cry of Vancouver's "Art In Living" group of artists, looking forward to the estimated 500,000 Canadian homes to be built in the next five years. The Group, made up of students, graduates and teachers from Vancouver School of Arts, believe this can be accomplished through six basic elements of design: light, view, space, shape, color and surface. Drawings for community centres have been studied by Group leader Fred Amess and secretary Jean Cooper (upper left) on vacant land in suburban Vancouver. Group is now busy with its Autumn architectural display, a work which won such popularity when first exhibited in the Vancouver Art Gallery that it is now an annual event. From miniatures built in basement workshop Jack Newman (centre) aided by Ron Hamilton and Joyce Butler designs additions to own home. Below, Bert Binning's bright, airy home, built at a cost of only $5,000, combined all six architectural elements stressed by Group, is one of Canada's most discussed examples of modern housing.

TURN RANGE INTO CO-OP FARM: A new kind of Combined Operations for 15 veterans is Matador Co-operative Farm, 45 miles north of Swift Current, Saskatchewan. Ex-gunner George Lacy drives a tractor. Like others, he pooled resources voluntarily to work for profits of large-scale farming. Houses, made from dismantled RCAF buildings, were hauled 40 miles from airport. To seed first crop, members worked 24 hours daily in shifts, used tractor headlights at night. Approximately 2,500 acres have been ploughed on the 15 sections of land. Flax crop of 265 acres was pronounced A-1 by government inspector Ron Hardy (above at right bending). Washing after work, Harold Heath (left), Bill Zazelenchuck (centre) and Ernie Mouson discuss future crops which will repay provincial loan that helped start community.

ALL OUT FOR RATION BOOK:—Canada has been having a new kind of "book week" from September 9 to 16 when consumers from coast to coast have been turning out to get their new ration books. More than 7,000 distribution centres in every city, town and hamlet have been open at some time during the week to hand out the valuable little coupon-books which keep Canada's system of food distribution in such smooth running order that shiploads of essential foods can be sent regularly to the devastated areas of Europe. Above, left, Father Robert of the Trappist Monastery of Matassini collects the books for his order; right, two pretty representatives of the Chinese colony in Montreal, help with the distribution; lower left, a bearded Sikh from Vancouver prepares for the allotment of books to the coast city's East India residents; and right, a group of Ottawa residents line up while a volunteer worker writes in the necessary information, Centre, Ration Book No. 6.

"MISS AMERICA" CROWNED:—"Hello, mom, I won," dark-haired Marilyn Buford, Los Angeles, tells the big news over long-distance from Atlantic City. Marilyn carried California's colors to victory. Miss America of 1946, as the judges saw and judged her. Marilyn Buford is 21.

BELFRY TUMBLE: George Petryna, 25, pulled the wrong rope while working on a church belfry at Sudbury, Ont., and fell 85 feet to the concrete steps below. He landed on his feet and fractured both ankles. His skull is also reported fractured.

The little white hen ain't what she used to be. Henry Schneider of Milwaukee, recently found out to his embarrassment. His three-year-old White Leghorn turned into a rooster, quit laying, developed a comb and a lousy crowd. Frank gland action caused the switch. Schneider is pictured above, with the changing chick.

Farewell Service Central Lutheran

The Rev. M. S. Johnson, will conduct farewell services for Central Lutheran Church Sunday before leaving for Outlook, Sask., where he has been appointed faculty member of the Saskatchewan Lutheran Bible Institute.

A GRADUATE of the Lutheran Theological College in St. Paul, Minnesota, Mr. Johnson came to Edmonton in July, 1942, to begin his ministry here. He has also conducted the weekly Lutheran Hour broadcasts, which have been a feature of this church for the past ten years.

In connection with his teaching in the Bible school department of the Saskatchewan college, which is affiliated with the University of Saskatchewan, Mr. Johnson expects to be speaking in nearby churches and probably participating in broadcasts from the Lutheran church.

It is drawn from passages like these: "And touched their eyes; and immediately their eyes received sight, 'So Jesus had compassion on them and they followed him.' (Matthew 20: 31). 'Jesus established in the Christian era the precedent for Christian charity, theology, and healing.' 'Science and Health with Keys to the Scriptures, by Mary Baker Eddy, p. 126.

Beulah Campaign To Close Sunday

The special evangelistic campaign of the Beulah Tabernacle with Dr. Harvey H. Springer of Colorado, concludes with four services Sunday. The Rev. and Mrs. Springer will speak to the Sunday school at 10:15 a.m. after which the visiting evangelist will be heard in the morning worship service at 11:30 speaking on the subject "This Great Salvation". At 3 p.m. in the Strand Theatre Colorado's converted cowboy will tell the first chapter of his amazing life story—"Home on the Range". In the concluding evangelistic rally at 7:30 in the Strand Theatre, Dr. Springer will tell the second and concluding chapter of his thrilling life story. As many were turned away from the Strand Theatre last Sunday all are urged to come early for a seat. The Rev. J. D. Carlson, the pastor-evangelist of the Beulah Tabernacle, announces that next Saturday evening at 8 o'clock there will be an interdenominational worship service at 8 o'clock in the First Church of the Nazarene, 1112 - 5A Street. This feature—the Rev. and Mrs. Gordon Smith, pioneer missionaries to French-Canada, will present their dramatic missionary dialogue in native costume. This has been presented in the great Moody Church in Chicago, the Peoples Church in Toronto, and in the largest youth for Christ rallies on the continent. All are urged to bring a friend. This service is this missionary presentation.

TODAY'S MESSAGE

THE COMMON GOOD

It has often been said that a man must have a sense of dedication to some high and noble cause if he is to lead a rich, full life. Obviously if a man seeks to live only for himself, he is not only being selfish, but is cutting himself off from the fullness of life around him. What is worse, he is not being a good Christian.

To be truly happy, a man must have a lively sense of kinship with other men. He must be ready to share his joys and positions as well as his sorrows with others. To him the oft-used phrase, "the common good," must be more than a political or even purely slogan; it must be a reminder that the very goal of life itself is something that must be shared lest it become empty and profitless.

The world needs generosity. There is much misery around us because too many men are content to live in isolated egotism. These individuals may argue that the suffering and want they see on every side are not matters that concern them, but the fact remains that only the spirit of common service, universally awakened, can ever hope to keep these evils from multiplying.

The common good means simply that Christians recognize each other as neighbours and feel a definite responsibility toward one another. There are many men and women whose large-hearted devotion to the needy and underprivileged are an inspiration and hope. But unless their example inspires the great mass of their fellows to imitate them to a greater or less degree, the good they do will be incomparably feeble in comparison with what must yet be done.

If we think of peace—a peace that will envelop the world in lasting security and contentment—we must think also of what peace really is. It is not merely being free from the menace and threat of war. It is living in mutual service in co-operation, understanding and forbearance. It is being dedicated, as nations and individuals, to the concept of a common service which recognizes that all men are bound together in a great universal family under the fatherhood of God.

COME TO CHURCH THIS SUNDAY

The minister will preach at both services at Metropolitan on Sunday. Parents with young children will be baptised are requested to present them at the morning service. The Ministerial Council is meeting on completion, and is now available for small weddings and services of a devotional nature.

450 Polish Veterans To Work in Alberta

Notification has been received by military authorities that 450 ex-soldiers of the Polish army will arrive in Alberta in the near future, to be sent to other military districts in Canada where need for farm workers is urgent.

The portion slated for Alberta agricultural work are a part of 2,000 immigrant workers due to arrive in Halifax toward the end of the present month. Groups are to be sent to other military districts in Canada where need for farm workers is urgent.

WORKING in conjunction with the department of labor whose responsibility it is to dispatch the immigrants where needed, military authorities will be responsible for their accommodation and feeding until sent to Alberta districts on farm work.

Upon arrival in Alberta the Polish immigrants will be housed by military authorities either in Edmonton or Calgary. Because of the greater need for workers in southern Alberta it is anticipated that they may make use of a portion of a POW camp at Lethbridge for temporary accommodation.

ACCORDING to a statement in the House of Commons, 4,000 ex-members of the Polish armed forces who are unable to return to their country because of Allied participation in the war will be admitted to Canada.

1,700 "Hepcats" Cut Rugs With McIntyre

Playing on borrowed instruments, after his own saxophone and clarinet, valued at $800 had been stolen during the afternoon, Hal McIntyre at the head of his own dance orchestra scored an undeniably high when he appeared at the North West Air Command drill hall on Friday night.

HOT JAZZ and jivebombs aggregating 1,700 were on hand when the McIntyre organization "gave out" with three solid hours of enter tainment.

The orchestra arrived in the city about noon Friday and were ready at 9 p.m. sharp for the jitterbug. Mr. McIntyre was well pleased with the way the band was received and declared Edmonton's Teen-agers were a group of genuine music lovers.

HIGHLIGHTS of the evening took place when Frankie Lester crooned America's No. 1 hit song "The Gypsy" to swooning bobbysocks and Bobby Car gave his trumpet rendition of "Love Come Back." Later the two were swamped with eager autograph hunters.

The jitterbug session couples dropped out and finally a flourish was staged by Nona Wells and Glen Einton in one of the band's hot numbers.

To avoid the hall becoming overcrowded, as it did at the Tommy Dorsey session, a limited number of tickets was sold.

Proceeds will go to the RCAC benevolent fund.

The next name band to make its appearance in Edmonton will be Charlie Spence on Oct. 18.

Millan will speak to a similar meeting at Raymont.

During the day the three ministers will be conducted on a tour of inspection of the site now under preparation for construction of the St. Mary-Hill River dam.

Wedding Anniversaries Should Be Joyous and Festive Occasions: Note Each Has Own Gift Symbol

Keep tab of those wedding anniversaries. Not only those which form an annual link in your own married life, but those of your friends.

For the anniversary of a wedding should be a festive occasion... a time for friends, for merriment and present-diving.

One of the most important of the anniversaries is the 50th, or golden anniversary. This is usually celebrated by a large family dinner to which all the children and grandchildren are invited. Another form of celebration is through an "at home" to which friends and neighbors are invited.

The presents on this occasion must be golden, though not necessarily of the precious metal. The guests may bring such suitable gifts as gold-woven china, a print in a gilt frame, a French gilt clock or a bouquet of yellow flowers.

The diamond or 75th outranks both the golden and silver, of course, but few couples manage to attain this goal.

But to save you headaches, when you try to remember what to give Betty and Ben on their wedding "birthday," here are the anniversary symbols.

The first, paper; the second, cotton; the third, leather; the fourth, fruits and flowers; the fifth, wood; the sixth, sugar, candy; the seventh, wool; the eighth, pottery; the ninth, willow; the tenth, tin.

The 15th anniversary, which is the first to merit serious attention on the part of the gift-bringers, is symbolized by crystal.

The 20th anniversary calls for china; the 25th, silver; the 30th, pearl; the 35th, coral; the 40th, ruby; the 45th, sapphire; the 50th, golden; the 55th, emerald; the 60th and 75th, diamond.

It's 'The Lady in Red' Who Attracts the Proposals

Want to attract a proposal from the steady boy friend? Then wear a red dress.

For red is the color, the color psychology experts say, which most "excites the emotions" thus effectively weakening a man's resistance to making a proposal of marriage.

When a girl wears a red dress, the experts continue, her male companion's thoughts begin to centre on that thing called love.

And if you doubt whether the "lady in red" will really attract a proposal, glance over recent history. When the former Wally Simpson first met the Duke of Windsor, then Prince of Wales, she was wearing a red evening gown.

But since red comes in many shades, for best results the shade must be chosen with care.

Watermelon red is the best bet. Has been reported that when a woman wears a hat of this shade, she attracts three times as many admiring masculine eyes.

But any Edmonton gal who starts to plan an "all-red" campaign might heed this warning from the experts. Since red is the "emotional" color, she had better guard against any situation arising which will require diplomatic handling. Red, they say, "brings out the wolf" in a man.

Contrariwise, when a man wears a red shirt, he tends to arouse the emotional interest of any near-by women.

As a change from a steady wardrobe of red, the experts advise the blue and green. Both have appeal for men and women, they say, though these colors are "weaker" than red. From an emerald.

Mr. Clarence Cramton Raymond and his bride, the former Miss Joan Frances Allan, are pictured after their wedding at St. Stephen's College chapel. The bride is the daughter of Mr. Violet S. Allan of Edmonton and the groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Stephen A. Raymond of Edmonton.

Mr. and Mrs. Reginald Alphonse are pictured after their recent wedding which took place at St. Joseph's church in Edmonton. The bride is the former Antonia Krupa, daughter of Mr. Mike Krupa of Edmonton, and the groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Alphonse of Irvine. The couple will reside in Leduc.—Photograph by McMillan Studio.

Mr. Francis David Auger and his bride, the former Miss Lucy Lorene Palmer, are shown above after their wedding in St. Francis church, Windsor, Vermont. The bride is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. P. J. Palmer, of Edmonton, and the groom is a son of Mr. and Mrs. J. Auger, of Windsor, Vermont. The newlids spent a honeymoon in New York City, and are residing in Burlington, Vermont, where the groom is attending university.

Estimated 150,000 Ration Books Out

Official total of ration books issued in Edmonton and district will not be available for about seven days, C. J. Ingram, ration officer, stated Saturday.

He said that distribution in Edmonton was carried through without incident in the city, and he expressed appreciation of the splendid work done by the corps of volunteer women workers who manned the 30 distributing centres throughout the city.

Distribution of the books in the rural sections of the Edmonton area will continue through until Saturday evening.

Mr. Ingram said that a number of applications had been received from persons who failed to obtain city, and approximately 30,000 in their ration books during the three days of distribution in the city, approximately 150,000. Last year Application cards are being distributed in all these cases, and in Edmonton, and 28,525 in rural areas for a total of 143,527.

It is estimated that at least 120,000 books will be distributed in the city.

Northland Is Seen Centre Of Canadian Development

By Canadian Institute Of Public Opinion

TORONTO. — Canadian and bright prospects of dramatic advance in this country within the coming decade or two.

Urban industry, agriculture and the unfolding role of the new northland frontier will form existing expansion in the early future. Such is the general conviction of the predominant majority of Canadians of voting age, the Institute found in the latest Gallup poll of an accurate reconstruction of all classes.

The question: "Some people think Canada is going to see a period of big development in the coming ten to 20 years. Do you agree with this or not?"

The responses:

Yes..... 71% No..... 11%

Undecided..... 18%

"There is little pessimism anywhere in Canada on this subject. They are and every class of voters agree expansion to dynamic conditions in the early flowering of the greater Canada.

And the idea is more than a vague dream. Canadians are widely practical on this as on other considerations. To measure how concrete are the public's views on the matter, the Institute asked the question: "Will the greatest changes come in the north?"

"Which of these areas do you think will show the greatest change?"

The responses:

The north..... 25% The west..... 17%

The east..... 12% Other (mostly)..... 4%

"The confidence is real for it is based at home. Farmers voted more heavily than urban dwellers for the prospects of great progress in agriculture; city voters most strongly for development of the cities; British Columbians for the early greatness of the west coast.

But all areas and classes are in greatest prospect for the north.

As a group, the veterans of the Second Great War are most inspired by the untold potential of the northland.

How realistic are these ideas about northern glory? Some of the public's concept is based on more than Hollywood illusion is provided by the concrete statements the Institute obtained by asking those who said "the north."

"Do you have any particular part of the north in mind?"

All specified areas in terms which indicated they knew some practical economic geography. Mineral areas such as Great Bear Lake, Veljevo, Timmins and Rouyn received most frequent mention. Peace River and Mackenzie valley areas also appear to be well known. Northern British Columbia and the leading timber and pulpwood districts were noted, as were also the Hudson bay shipping facilities.

Canadians know and have faith in Canada.

Canadians Approve World Food Plan

COPENHAGEN (CP)—Dr. G. B. H. Barton, Canada's deputy minister of agriculture, said in a statement Friday that the Canadian delegation is pleased with the outcome of the United Nations Food and Agriculture Organization conference, which recommended a world food board or similar agency to stabilize prices and raise nutrition standards by distributing food surpluses.

As head of the Canadian Federation of Agriculture, H. H. Hanson of Ottawa said the conference's action in proceeding at once to develop the board would be widely approved by Canadian farmers and producers everywhere who consider that the F.A.O. intends to face up to its great objectives in a practical way.

"In some such plan of co-ordinated international action our farmers are much more for securing markets and stabilizing fair world prices which in turn would stabilize the farmers' return and farm family living in our own economy."

Dr. Barton was re-elected to the F.A.O. executive committee and will serve a three-year term.

May Draft Troops Harvest U.K. Crop

LONDON (CP)—A heavy rain clouded harvesting Friday in harvest Suffolk and official forecasts held little hope for good weather elsewhere in the country.

Meanwhile, the agriculture ministry and the National Farmers Union announced that an agreement has been reached to draft troops for emergency harvesting when necessary.

It was estimated Friday that some 30,000 tons of wheat, oats and barley have been damaged by rain and rain in the late days of August and the first week of September.

Seek to Speed Rail Unloading

By H. R. Hardy

OTTAWA.—With a view to relieving the railway freight car shortage in Canada, brought about by the need for moving Canada's bumper wheat crop, coarse grains, fruit, vegetables, building materials for wartime housing, coal and other commodities, Transport Controller J. B. Liberty has issued an order intended to speed the return of empty cars. This order, issued with the concurrence of the minister of transport and the prime minister, compels the railway companies to charge a penalty for delays in unloading cars. This is additional to demurrage charges.

Under existing railway rules, a two-day time limit is given for unloading and returning box, auto-mobile, gondola, hopper and ballast cars. The transport controller's order provides that after the expiration of the two-day time limit, penalty charges will be made for holding cars on a sliding scale of $10 per day. This order becomes effective after midnight of Sunday next, Sept. 18. It does not apply to freight cars awaiting unloading at coast ports for the transfer of cargoes to vessels.

The acute situation has been brought about by the need of 60,000 box cars to move Canada's bumper wheat crop, 2,000 cars for the movement of coal from the Alberta coal mines and the rapid return of United States coal cars to handle the coal movement from that country.

MARYVILLE, Mo. With what change is left, bring me about six postcards and the rest in three-cent stamps. Thanks." Barry complied.

Youth Delinquency Alarming France

PARIS (ONA)—A serious upswing in juvenile delinquency in France has been recorded since the end of the war.

The number of youthful delinquents brought before the courts last year from 12,188 in 1939 to about 35,000 in 1943, official statistics reveal, and the end of the increase is not in sight.

The crime category in which the major increase has been registered is burglary, and the end of the increase is not in sight.

In any over-all view of juvenile delinquency, one must consider that the number of youths considered an offence under the French penal code since 1939 and that the number of vagrants today is substantially less than in 1939.

The number of adolescents today considered by the authorities as being in "moral danger" and needing education other than that given by their parents is estimated at 500,000.

JONAH FISH

JONAH FISH had caused the Teenie Weenies a lot of trouble. Gogo was the first Teenie Weenie to see the huge fish, and it was Gogo who named it Jonah. "He's great big like de fish in de good book dat swallowed dat Jonah fellow," said Gogo.

"How big is he?" asked the excited Dunce.

"Mighty neah as big as a wattahmelon," answered Gogo.

The Teenie Weenies decided Gogo had been seeing things and they didn't pay much attention to his discovery until the Sailor saw it while paddling up the creek in his tiny canoe.

"It's more than 10 peapod canoes long," the Sailor told the little folks.

That started the Dunce on a fishing spree. He spent all his spare time fishing for Jonah. In fact, he skipped some of his regular Teenie Weenie work and had to be sent to bed without any supper several times. The Chinaman spent a great deal of his time fishing for Jonah, too. He neglected his washing and that brought on a shortage of Teenie Weenie bed sheets and loud protests from the Lady of Fashion. Even the Cook got fishing fever and some of the Teenie Weenie meals were late and rather skimpy. The little men dug worms and fished, but they never had a single nibble.

"Try live grasshoppers for bait," the Old Soldier with a wooden leg suggested to the Dunce.

The Dunce and Gogo hunted for several days before they found a big grasshopper. They were nearly tired out after they had captured it. The Dunce harhis Teenie Weenie breath nearly knocked out of him when the grasshopper kicked him in his tiny stomach, and Gogo got grasshopper tobacco juice all over his sweater. The Sailor and the Chinaman helped them lash the big bug to a pole and then they set off for the creek.

When they came to the shady pool in which Jonah lived, the little men put the grasshopper onto a hook. They walked out on a stick that extended over the water and when the Sailor tied the end of the line firmly to the stick the Dunce dropped the baited hook into the water. For a moment the grasshopper fluttered on top of the water and then suddenly there was a great splash. The grasshopper vanished and the stick was jerked off the bank, spilling the four Teenie Weenies into the creek. They all swam safely to shore, but Jonah is still swimming peacefully in the creek.

"Ah'm gonna let ole Mr. Jonah catch his own grasshoppahs from now on," grumbled Gogo.
